7 Argentinean Wines to Drink Right Now [Excerpt]

By Ray Isle

Here are seven picks from Laura Catena, one Argentina's best winemakers.

Bodega Chacra

2012 Bodega Chacra Barda Pinot Noir ($30)

“Some Pinots are too fruity, but not this one. It’s got real complexity and a long, lovely finish. Plus, I love owner Piero Incisa della Rocchetta’s story about discovering his vineyard in Patagonia; in fact, we recently planted a vineyard down there, too.”
